

OLIVER ROURA

"Oliver Roura is one of our great poets of geometry and color... The serenity and harmony, almost mathematical which are offered to the eyes in his works are actually the result of experimental work and tensions of different sign. Tension on the grounds that make up Roura's universe: geometry, linear precision and compositional accuracy living with capricious random, fractal reminiscent of fractal organic forms and painted freely. " - Pep Garrido-

Oliver Roura (Barcelona, 1978) won the Caixa Penedès Grant in 2011 in the context of the 14th Young Paint Competition that the Anquin's Gallery organized with the sponsorship of Caixa Penedès and the desire to give visibility to emerging talents such as Oliver's.

From his own beginnings of training at the Barcelona Massana School, to the moments of formation in the Berlin's cultural context, Oliver has pursued the expression of maximum emotional intensity with minimal formal and magical evidence.

Between the circle and the fractal geometry, between the spirit and matter, from the physical surface of the painting to its sensitive artifact, the painting by Oliver Roura has found in the city of Berlin, where he currently lives, the necessary cultural atmosphere to get closer to what he had always dreamed of, thanks to the observation of the new expressive possibilities that he was intently using while cleaning a paint pot.

They hid all the hidden secrets that have now made their plastic universe possible and, surely, all the others that will also determine their future.
